Dear Members of the Muslim Community,

Coalition groups are the heart of every grassroots campaign. The McCain campaign welcomes the involvement and support of Muslim American communities throughout the United States. Muslim Americans are part of the rich fabric of our country and have a valiant history of service both in public office and the Armed forces.

The McCain campaign encourages members of these and other communities to visit www.JohnMcCain.com for more information on the issues and ways to support the campaign. It's in these closing days that we need your support the most. We look forward to meeting with Muslim American communities on the campaign trail in the upcoming weeks. John McCain is committed to protecting our country and preserving our freedom.

We look forward to your support.

Sincerely,
